Mounds Family Research Shared

This month's Family Tree article includes research on the Mounds family and shared with the Bartholomew County Historical Museum by Cecil Mabe, 121 Lark Dr., Carmel, Ind. 46032.

John Mounds is the first Mounds ancestor in family records. He lived in Maryland. His first wife was a Bristoe (or Briscoe) and she died in 1767 when their son Samuel was born. John took a second wife and they later moved to Pennsylvania and had several sons. Samuel left home while yet a lad and joined Daniel Boone's men in Kentucky. In Shelby County, Ky., he married Sarah Anderson. Their son, Thomas, was born there in 1795.

Both Samuel and Thomas bought land in Kentucky. Before Indiana became a state, Thomas sold his Kentucky land and moved into a section known as the Clark Grant where he owned land. There in Clark County he married Mary Scott. Two of their children were born there, Sarah Mounds in 1819 and Samuel Mounds in 1820.

In 1821, Thomas sold his Clark County land and came to Bartholomew County where he purchased land for $1.25 an acre. His father, Samuel, also sold his land in Kentucky and followed Thomas to Bartholomew County where he purchased acres in Columbus Township.

The 11 children of Thomas and Mary Scott Mounds born in Bartholomew County include William Mounds (1822-?) no information; William Mounds (1823-1839); Mary Ann Mounds (1825-?) married Barney Cain and lived in Owen County; Nancy Mounds (1826-1849) married John Evans; James Scott Mounds (1828-1903), whose first wife was Melvina Jones; second wife, Rebecca Reed; third wife, Mary Ann Akers; fourth wife, Elizabeth Hunt.

Also, Elizabeth Mounds (1829-1852) married John Carter; Thomas A. Mounds (1831-1852); Rebecca Jane Mounds (1833-1851); Margaret Mounds (1835-1838); George W. Mounds (1837-1863) a Civil War soldier; Rachel Mounds (1840-?) married a Dyson and moved to Illinois; Amanda Mounds (1842-?) married brother of Rachel's husband.

In 1850, Thomas, the father of the large family, is listed as one of the three men, the others being Joseph I. Irwin and Western W. Jones, who platted the second addition to Columbus. In 1851, they platted the fourth addition from Fifth to Sixth, Pearl to Sycamore.

Before a building was erected by the Carter Chapel Methodist Church, the Samuel Mounds' home was one of the meeting places; his daughter, Sarah, was a charter member. In 1839, Thomas Mounds deeded a part of his land to the church for a "burying ground."

The following Mounds family members are buried there — Samuel and Sarah Anderson Mounds, Thomas and Mary Scott Mounds, Charlotte Mounds, Melvina Jones Mounds and infant son, Rebecca Reed Mounds, Mary Ann Akers Mounds, Elizabeth Mounds Carter, Thomas A. Mounds, Rebecca Jane Mounds, Margaret Mounds, Maria E. Mounds and an infant son, children of James S. and Mary Akers Mounds.

The following are buried at the New Carters Chapel Cemetery — James Scott Mounds, Elizabeth Hunt Mounds, Myrtle Breeding Kendell, granddaughter of James S. Mounds.

The Mabe family line is through James Scott and Mary Akers Mounds whose children not already mentioned were Thomas Jefferson Mounds (1860-1925) who married Elizabeth Tice; Anne E. Mounds (1862-1946), whose first husband was Alex Breeding, second, Jacob Singer; Joseph Grant Mounds (1864-1955) who married Dora A. Smock; George Sylvester Mounds (1868-1961) who married Luella Belle Smock.

Children of George S. and Luella Belle Mounds included Pearl Estelle Mounds (1891-1973), who married Henry Schuder; Mabel Murriel Mounds (1893-1974); Hazel Hester Mounds (1895-?) who married Cecil Mabe; Dorothy Algite Mounds (1899-1974) who married William Boll.

According to the Mabe research there are no direct descendants now residing in Bartholomew County.

Complete Lineage of The Well Known Smock Family of Sullivan County

BY SAMUEL S. BREWER

Sullivan Union Feb 1, 40

Hendrick Matthyse (Matthias) Smak came from Holland in 1654, and settled at Ned Utrecht, Long Island, where he became a magistrate. His wife was Geercht, (Gertrude) Harmens. He died about 1768. His sons were Matthyse, Johannis (John), and Leendert (Leonard). Johannis settled in Monmouth county, New Jersey, in 1712, and Leendert and Matthyse, in Middlesex county, New Jersey. The name was originally "Smack" pronounced Smock. Descendants of these three sons later removed from New Jersey to Conewago, York, now Adams county, Pa., and from there to the Shenandoah Valley, in Virginia, and later to Mercer county, Kentucky, and from this place to Sullivan county, Indiana, and other points in the West.

The wife of Hendryse Smack, Guertje Harmens Coerten.

Guert (Godfrey) Corten came from Voorthuysen, in the Province of Gelderland, Holland, and settled first at New Amsterdam, now New York City and then at Bergen, New Jersey. He is first mentioned on Dec. 18, 1646, when he rented with Wouter (Walter) Aertsen, the bouwery or farm, of Wouter Van Twiller, on Manhatten Island. He married Oct. 13, 1647, Geertje (Gertrude) Jacobs. He joined the Bergen Dutch Church, in 1672, and died Aug. 17, 1701. His wife died first and he left no living children. He made his brother, Harmen Corten, his universal heir under the Dutch law.

Harmen Corten, his brother, also from Voorthuysen, Province of Gelderland, Holland, was born about 1610, as he was 54 years old in 1664, when he made a declaration regarding Captain John Scott's raid on New Utrecht, Long Island. He sailed on Feb. 12, 1659 for this country, in the ship DeTrouk (The Faith), with his wife, Aertje (Eve) and five children, aged 5-6-8-9 and 17 years, and settled in New Utrecht. Later he removed to Bergen, N. J., and took the oath of allegiance there to the English, in 1665, and where his wife died, Dec. 2, 1684. He died Nov. 26, 1689. His children were:

John Brewer of Graysville

Johannes Smock, late of Staten Island, New York, for 230 acres of land in Middletown township, and four acres of salt meadow, at Shoal Harbor. Ramenessin brook is called for as one of the boundaries of the tract.

Since this record was made, the township of Holmdel, has been set off from Middletown township, and this tract of land lies now in Holmdel township, and is one of its fertile and desirable locations. Much of it has gone out of the possession of the Smock family, but the Smock family graveyard is located on it, and is kept in good condition. Quite a number of the farms of this particular locality, were owned and occupied, at one time, by the different members and generations of the Smocks, especially during the Revolutionary War period, for they were an agricultural people. It is within the memory of people now living, 1921, when the neighborhood was known as "Smock" town.

Johannes and Catherine (Barents) Smock, were members of the "Congregation of the Nevesink," the Dutch Reformed church of Freehold and Middletown, familiarly known as the "Brick Church," and situated now in Marlboro township, near Bradevelt. Johannes was a member of the grand jury in 1715. It is said there were eight children, although there are only four named in the will which was made, September 24, 1754; proved January 24, 1755.

Among the children was Hendrick Smock, born October 16, 1698, in New Utrecht, Long Island. After coming to Monmouth county with his father, he married Mary Schenck. She was the daughter of Garrett and Neeltjie (Voorhees) Schenck, and granddaughter of Roelof Martinse Schenck, who emigrated to America in 1650. She was born, November 1, 1699, in the Schenck house, which is still standing in Pleasant Valley, Holmdel township, and died in September, 1747. Hendrick Smock died May 30, 1747. His will was dated May 27, 1747, proved October 8, 1747, and names three sons and two daughters. Among them was John Smock, familiarly known as "Colonel John," he having served with distinction in the War of the Revolution.

Colonel John Smock was born February 13, 1727; married Elizabeth Cowenhoven, May 7, 1741; died February 28, 1808. His wife was born in March, 1725; died May 7, 1812. On the homestead farm, where they are both buried, are tombstones marking their graves, which are about two miles southeast from Holmdel village. The traditions of the community, and family records, tell of the Colonel as being a familiar character. He was sometimes called "Booty," because he was so particular about the make of his boots. Indeed he was precise and punctilious about everything, adhering rigidly to what was right and proper, in all things. At lege and duty from which he did not shrink, thus evidencing that sturdy character, so manifest in his later military career.

In Revolutionary records we find the name, "Smock" prominent as serving on committees, etc., as well as in the list of soldiers, but none on the lists of Tories. He was a member of the Provincial Congress in 1776-1777; and it is recorded in the adjutant general's office at Trenton, N. J., that:

Colonel John Smock was in commission as Captain in the First Regiment, Monmouth county, New Jersey Militia in 1777; promoted Major, ditto; promoted Lieutenant-Colonel, ditto, March 17, 1778; taken prisoner near Middletown Point (now Matawan) Monmouth county, New Jersey, May 27, 1778; commissioned Lieutenant-Colonel of Colonel Asher Holmes' Battalion, New Jersey State Troops, June 7, 1780; a prisoner of war on Long Island; promoted Colonel of the First Regiment, and served as such until the close of the Revolutionary War.

After the War, he was elected justice of the peace, and until his death executed the duties connected with this important office, in those early days of our country's history, when the powers and jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, were of more importance than they now are. He was a fine penman, and the writer has several well preserved specimens of his hand-writing.

Few families can show a more patriotic record, or that they served their country in the War for Independence, more zealously than the Smocks; and from the "Official History of Officers and Men in the Revolutionary War," we read, "They bore an active part in the fights, performed efficient service in supporting the Continental Army," and Adjutant General William S. Stryker of New Jersey, wrote, "Col. Smock was a very distinguished officer." Others of this family, whose deeds have become matters of history, when the nation needed brave and trust-worthy men were:

Barent Smock, brother of Colonel John, who was a Captain also in the First Regiment, Monmouth County, New Jersey Militia; Captain of Artillery, and prisoner of war, September, 1780. Hendrick Smock, another brother of Colonel John, was Captain of the Minute Men, 1775; Captain in the First Regiment, Monmouth Militia in 1777; Captain of an Artillery Company, 1778; Hendrick, son of Colonel John, Captain in his father's Regiment, and a prisoner of war, September 1780. (Of the latter many tales are told of his protection of his weaker fellow-prisoners on the prison ship, where they were confined.) Barent J. Smock, a cousin to Colonel John, private in the famous Light Horse Cavalry, commissioned a Corporal, 1779; Cornet ditto; Lieutenant ditto, 1780; Captain ditto in the same year. (Vide—Stryker's "Officers and Men in the Revolutionary War.")

He came to Indianapolis in 1892 and here established himself in the work of his profession, and in 1893 he was appointed assistant city engineer, under the administration of Mayor Thomas L. Sullivan. He retained this position also during the mayoralty of Caleb S. Denny, and thereafter served for six years as city engineer under the administration of Mayor Thomas Taggart and two years during the regime of John W. Holtzman as chief executive of the municipal government. During his long period of service in connection with the office of city engineer Mr. Jeup carried out most effectively the improving of the sewerage system of Indianapolis, under the plans outlined by Rudolph Hering, the able consulting engineer appointed by Mayor Sullivan. Mr. Jeup was a member of the commission appointed to appraise the value of the tangible property of the Indianapolis Water Company and made recommendation that the city purchase the property. Had this advice of the commission been followed the city would undoubtedly be the owner of its own water system to-day and in control of a service that would prove a source of profit to the city and at the same time best conserve the demands of the general consumer. Later Mr. Jeup was associated with George W. Fuller and Dr. C. E. Ferguson as a member of the commission appointed by the city to investigate both the quantity and quality of the physical property of the Indianapolis Water Company, with a view to effecting improvements in the distributing service and the quality of the water supplied. The recommendations of this commission are now being followed by the water company in the expanding and improving of its system according to the demands placed upon it. These brief statements indicate that Mr. Jeup has been a valuable agent in connection with the directing and regulating of the engineering department of the municipal government of the capital city, and it is largely due to his zealous and able efforts that the water supply of the city is maintained at its present high standard. He caused a fire station to be established to show the water pressure. He has also done much to make possible the securing to the city the elevation of railroad tracks at street crossings within the municipal limits, and he has also given most zealous aid in providing the city with effective gas service at reasonable terms. His efforts in this connection are a matter of record and have been duly appreciated and commended by the leading business men and general public in Indianapolis. In the private work of his profession he has been equally successful and has carried through many important engineering projects and enterprises. His firm has a large and representative clientage and holds distinctive precedence among similar concerns in the state. Mr. Jeup is a valued member of the Indiana Civil Engineering Society, a member of the Indianapolis Board of Trade and the Commercial Club, and at all times he manifests a lively interest in all that tends to advance the material and civic welfare of his home city and state.

In politics Mr. Jeup is aligned as a staunch advocate of the cause of the Democratic party, he is affiliated with the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and holds membership in various civic and social organizations, including the Indiana Democratic Club.

In the year 1895 was solemnized the marriage of Mr. Jeup to Miss Emma Dithmer, daughter of Henry L. and Agnes (Seidensticker) Dithmer, the father being a successful business man of Indianapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Jeup have two children—Florence Gertrude, and Bernard Henry.

WILLIAM C. SMOCK. A scion of one of the honored pioneer families of Marion County, which has represented his home from the time of his nativity. William C. Smock is one of the well known and highly esteemed citizens of Indianapolis, where he has resided for many years and where he has held various offices of distinctive public trust. His career has designated in a positive way the strength of a strong and loyal nature, and to him has ever been accorded unqualified confidence and regard, indicating the popular appreciation of his worthy life and worthy deeds. He is now engaged in the practice of law in Indianapolis and is one of the venerable representatives of his profession in the capital city of his native state.

Mr. Smock has reason to find pride in reverting to his genealogical history, for he is a member of a family founded in America about the middle of the seventeenth century and one that is of the staunch Holland Dutch extraction.

In the quaint old city of Utrecht, Holland, was solemnized the marriage of Hendrick Matthysen Smock and Geerje Hermann, and in the year 1654 this worthy couple came to America and become the founders of the family of which the subject of this sketch is a worthy scion. They settled on Long Island, New York, where Mr. Smock acquired a tract of land, and to the little settlement that gradually formed about his home he applied, with affectionate remembrance of his fatherland, the name of New Utrecht. The names of his children were as follows: Mathias, John, Elizabeth, Leondert (Leonard), Sarah, Martynje, and Rebecca.

Mathias Smock was married, in New York, on the 13th of September, 1701, to Elizabeth Stevens, a widow, and about 1718 they removed to Piscataway, New Jersey. Their children were: Hendrick, Jan (John), Elizabeth, Lucas, Mathias, Gastie, and Mary. Jan (John) Smock and his wife Lena had children whose names and respective dates of baptism are here noted: John, April 10, 1735; Jacob, May 20, 1744; Gertie (Gertrude), October 26, 1751; Catrina, April 29, 1753; Abraham, February 11, 1755; Janette (Joan), December 11, 1757; and Barney, the date of whose baptism is not given. From the long intervals between the baptisms of the first and second and the second and third of these children it is probable that there were others, whose names were omitted in the foregoing list, the data for which were obtained from the ancient records of the Dutch Church at Raritan, New Jersey.

John Smock, of this family, married Sarah Fontaine, and they figure as the great-grandparents of William C. Smock in the paternal line. Jacob Smock, brother of the last mentioned John, married Catharine Demarest, daughter of Samuel Demarest, or Demaree, and they were the great-grandparents of the subject of this review in the maternal line. John Smock, son of John and Sarah (Fontaine) Smock, married Ann Van Arsdallen, daughter of Major Simon Van Arsdallen, and their youngest son, Isaac (youngest son in a family of twelve children), was the father of him whose name initiates this article. John Smock, son of Jacob and Catharine (Demarest, or Demaree) Smock, married Catharine Carnine, daughter of Peter Carnine, and their daughter, Ann Terhune Smock, who was one of twelve children, was the mother of William C. Smock. Three of the latter's great-grandfathers, Jacob Smock, Major Simon Van Arsdallen, and Peter Carnine, were valiant and patriotic soldiers in the Continental line in the War of the Revolution. John and Peter Smock, sons of Jacob and Catharine (Demarest) Smock, were captured by the Indians in Shelby County, Kentucky, in 1793, when they were fourteen and twelve years of age, respectively. They were with Winemac, a powerful Pottawatomie chief, and, through the agency of a French Indian trader, were surrendered to their father, at Greenville, Ohio, in 1795. The price of ransom was a keg of rum.

John Smock, son of John and Sarah (Fontaine) Smock, married Ann Van Arsdallen, as already noted, and they became the parents of twelve children. He died, near Harrodsburg, Mercer County, Kentucky, on the 5th of August, 1824, and his children began to immigrate to Indiana in an early day and soon after his demise. In 1829 his widow and her youngest son, Isaac, came to Indiana, and she purchased a large tract of land fronting on the Madison road, five miles south of Indianapolis. To this property she took title in the names of her twelve children. A large part of this land is now (1909) owned by Eli Heiny.

John Smock, son of Jacob and Catharine (Demarest) Smock, entered land just south of Indianapolis in the year 1821, and the same is now known as the Hoefgen farm. In 1822 he and his family took up their abode on this homestead, and at this time his daughter Ann Terhune, mother of the subject of this review, was not quite two years of age. On the farm mentioned the death of John Smock occurred on the 10th of January, 1829, and his wife, Catharine (Carnine) Smock, died on the 11th of September, 1835.

Isaac Smock was born in Mercer County, Kentucky, on the 22nd of April, 1817, and on the 18th of January, 1838, he was united in marriage to Ann Terhune Smock, who was born in Kentucky on the 1st of December, 1820. His death occurred at Southport, Marion County, Indiana, on the 4th of February, 1895, and his cherished and devoted wife was summoned to the life eternal on the 8th of September, 1906.

William C. Smock, eldest son of Isaac and Ann Terhune (Smock) Smock was born on the homestead farm, four miles south of Indianapolis, Indiana, on the 3rd of December, 1838. At the age of three years he received, while at play, an insignificant injury, and this afterward resulted in ankylosis of the right knee joint, rendering him a permanent cripple. Mr. Smock received his early educational discipline in the common schools in the vicinity of his home, and through wide and well-directed reading and through the experiences and association of mature life, he has become a man of broad and exact knowledge and of marked intellectuality. At the age of seventeen years he assumed a clerical position in the office of the county recorder of Marion County, and when nineteen years of age he was matriculated in Franklin College, at Franklin, Indiana, where he was a student for nearly two years, thus effectively supplementing his earlier educational training. After leaving this institution he devoted his attention to teaching a country school for two terms, and in April, 1860, he secured a position in the office of the county clerk, under the late Hon. John C. New. In 1862 Mr. Smock secured the nomination for the office of county recorder of Marion County, but his party, wishing to unite all elements in support of the prosecution of the war, desired to nominate a war Democrat for that office, under which conditions Mr. Smock withdrew his candidacy and General William J. Elliott, a Douglas Democrat, was nominated in his stead. Mr. Smock continued his service in the offices of the county clerk, and in November, 1865, he was himself elected clerk of the county, in which position he served five years and in which he gave an administration that has passed on to record as one commendable and able in every respect. One year was added to his regular term by reason of the passage of the biennial election law.

Upon retiring from the office of county clerk, Mr. Smock became associated with John B. Cleaveland, Ebenezer Smith and Daniel M. Ransdell in the real estate business. In November, 1878, Mr. Ransdell was elected county clerk and Mr. Smock responded to the request of his former partner by again entering service as a deputy in the office of the county clerk, where he continued as an able and popular incumbent during the ensuing eight years, at the expiration of which he resumed his operations in the real estate business. In November, 1898, he was elected a justice of the peace for Center Township and continued in tenure of this office for eight years. As tending to show the popular estimate placed upon his services in this office it may be noted that during his incumbency of the same he filed more than eleven thousand seven hundred cases and performed more than thirteen hundred marriage ceremonies. Since retiring from the office of justice of the peace Mr. Smock has been engaged in the practice of law, having been admitted to the bar of his native state in 1884, and being well versed in the minutiae of the science of jurisprudence.

In politics Mr. Smock is well fortified in his opinions as to matters of public policy, and is arrayed as a staunch supporter of the principles and policies for which the Republican party stands sponsor. In February, 1854, when seventeen years of age, Mr. Smock became a member of the Baptist Church, and he has long been a zealous and active worker in the same. He served for ten years as church clerk, was for many years a member of the board of trustees of his church, and for seventeen years he presided as superintendent of the Sunday school. He has been a deacon of the church for the past thirty years, and he was chorister for thirty-five years and four months, having a well trained bass voice and taking marked interest in musical affairs. He and his wife are now devoted and valued members of the First Baptist Church of Indianapolis, and in the capital city their circle of friends is limited only by that of their acquaintance.

On the 6th of December, 1860, was solemnized the marriage of Mr. Smock to Miss Melissa A. Smock, his second cousin. She was born and reared in Marion County, Indiana, and is a daughter of the late Captain Jacob Smock. Mr. and Mrs. Smock became the parents of six children, of whom only two are living—Eva L., who is the wife of Henry Schurmann, of Gloucester, Massachusetts, and Harry, who is a successful veterinary surgeon, engaged in the practice of his profession at Franklin, Indiana.

CHARLES E. AVERILL, a substantial and honored member of the Indianapolis bar, is a native of Lovell, Oxford County, Maine, born April 12, 1853. In 1863 his parents moved to Portland, that state, which remained the family home for years. The son was first educated in the city schools and then entered Bowdoin College, from which he graduated in 1873. His law studies were self-imposed and self-conducted, but to such purpose that when he went to Colorado in 1879 he was admitted to the bar of that state and located at Durango for practice.

Mr. Averill remained at that city until 1885, but conditions were then in the formative period in the Centennial state and he decided that his prospects would be improved by locating in some settled, yet progressive community of the east. Fixing then upon Indianapolis, he has had no cause to regret his choice by any professional or personal events which have transpired within the past quarter of a century. In 1884, the year before Mr. Averill became a resident of Indianapolis, he was married in Colorado to Miss Jessie M. Stubbs, daughter of Hon. George M. Stubbs, of that city, and that fact had a strong bearing upon his coming to the Indiana capital.

WOODBURN MASSON in his youth early became dependent upon his own resources. He had ambition, courage and persistence, and worked his own way in one of the most exacting of professions, defraying the expenses of his technical education and ever placing a true value upon men and affairs. It is thus pleasing to note that today he is numbered among the representative members of the Indianapolis bar and is one of the highly esteemed citizens of his native city.

Each girl has a project which is the exhibiting of her work during Open House.

The Southern Machine company, 95 Second street, the oldest firm of its kind in the city, is celebrating its 50th anniversary today.

Southern Machine has been engaged in general repair work since being founded in 1915 at a building on the northwest corner of First and Jackson streets by the late Homer Singer and Carlos Vail, 814 Cottage avenue, now retired.

The company was moved to the northeast corner of the same intersection five years later and remained there until 1957 when it moved into the present location, which was originally the old Columbus pumping station and waterworks.

Raymond C. Smock, now a co-owner of the company, came to work for the firm in 1927 and a year later joined in a partnership with Mr. Singer and Mr. Vail along with Karl Lay, who is now deceased.

In 1943 Mr. Smock and the late Fred J. Dorsey of Edinburg purchased the company from the other three men. Mr. Dorsey relinquished his share in 1963 and a new partnership was formed by Mr. Smock, his wife and a daughter, Miss Martha Smock.

In addition to welding and machine shop repair the company also handles mill supplies for steel working machinery.

It repairs virtually everything made of steel from bicycles to heavy industrial and farm machinery.

The company has seven employees.
